

Seeking Middle East Peace

Beachwood Branch, Cuyahoga County Library
25501 Shaker Blvd. (corner of Richmond Rd.)

Monday, December 14, 2009, 7:00 - 9:00 PM

Sponsored by:

Cleveland Peace Action Education Fund and
Maltz Museum of Jewish Heritage

Moderated Panel Discussion:

Jewish Perspectives on the Israeli-Palestinian Situation: the U.S. Role in Seeking an Eventual Peaceful Solution

A panel discussion from various viewpoints

Panelists: Brian Amkraut, Provost Siegal College of Judaic Studies

Debra Hirshberg, Co-Director, Tikkun, Cleveland Chapter

Michael Greenberg, native Clevelander, dual US-Israeli citizen

Martin Plax, Political Science faculty, Cleveland State University

Moderator: Cynthia Dettelbach, former editor, Cleveland Jewish News

Free and open to the public. Refreshments served.

Peace Action is the nation's largest grassroots peace network, with chapters and affiliates in 30 states. Peace Action conducts educational campaigns and organizes and lobbies congress towards a more peaceful world. Cleveland Peace Action's Middle East Peace Committee, established in 2006, is committed to enhancing public understanding of the longstanding Middle East conflict as well as the need for a lasting, peaceful, just and sustainable solution.

For more information contact: Cleveland Peace Action Education Fund

Tel: 216-321-9201 e-mail: mail@peaceactioncleveland.org www.peaceactioncleveland.org